KAHRMM Membership By Craig Rohleder

Congratulations KAHRMM Members!

The latest official list of KAHRMM members that was published contained 123 members for the year. That is unprecedented in recent KAHRMM history. Speaking on behalf of our president, I want to say "Thank You" to everyone who helped us achieve such a milestone this year.

I'd also like to say "Welcome" to all of the new members and challenge them to volunteer to assist with a program or event hosted by KAHRMM in 2019. I realize not everyone has the time or the desire to take a more active role in KAHRMM, but I strongly recommend you try something in 2019. It takes a little time, but you will have a hand in helping other Healthcare Supply Chain Professionals, and I'm sure that you will have a little fun at the same time.

Some possible volunteer opportunities are listed below. There are many ways to assist, so please speak up to any of the board members if you have an interest.

- Assist the Education Chair in setting up sessions or be a presenter at one of the sessions.
- Assist with assembly of the monthly newsletter or write an article for the newsletter.
- Help during the Special Olympics Basketball Tournament in Hays next March.
- Volunteer to help with the Vendor Recognition and Drive for Education event.

Thank You.

Cost, Quality and Outcomes (CQO)

The following article is a brief excerpt from AHRMM's website, 2018 AHRMM Cost, Quality and Outcomes (CQO) Report on the Clinically Integrated Supply Chain (Member-Only Access). Data-Driven Care Redesign — Duke Health

Interdisciplinary collaboration on care redesign is best built on a foundation of accurate, timely and comprehensive data. Supply chain leadership at Duke Health has created cross-organizational partnerships and the technology infrastructure to enable integration of detailed data on products used in patient care with information such as length of stay, infection rates, and reimbursement. This integrated approach to data management provides insights into where variation exists, total costs per procedure, and opportunities for quality improvement.

Supply Chain's Expanding Role in Population Health — Geisinger Health System

To address the high incidence of Type 2 diabetes in its communities, Geisinger Health System looked beyond clinical care to meet unmet social needs. Geisinger's Fresh Food Pharmacy program provides patients with nutritional meals, education, and one-on-one support, with early results indicating better disease management, more engaged patients, and lower emergency room visits and readmission rates. With rising chronic disease consuming the bulk of U.S. health expenditures, Geisinger believes there is an expanded role for supply chain to manage the contracting, procurement, and delivery of products and services to meet the social determinants of health.

In an effort to save money, decrease ordering of supplies outside of supply chain, and return nursing and other clinical professionals back to their primary focus of patient care, NYC H+H is developing a clinically integrated structure. As they undergo a Kanban reorganization through careful value analysis and rapid standardization, NYC H+H is working to standardize items across their system comprised of acute and post-acute care facilities.

The organization's current value analysis process will evolve into a clinically integrated system that is both practical and sustainable, uses best practice and evidence-based medicine, and includes all necessary stakeholders. This presentation will discuss H+H's journey as well as what is needed for successful development and implementation of a clinically integrated team that can perform value analysis across a variety of facilities under one system.

Presented by Nexera

Proud AHRMM CQO Sponsor

Learning Objectives

- Explain the benefits of KanBan and associated technology as applied to supply chain and in relation to saving the time of clinical professionals.
- Describe the process of Rapid Standardization and its effect on a system of provider organizations.
- Outline the necessity of leadership involvement, principles of LEAN/Toyota Production System and sustainability of the process.

How this Session Relates to the Cost, Quality, and Outcomes (CQO) Movement:

Lower costs are the result of a program whereby products are carefully vetted by a clinically integrated team and placed and ordered on contract by the supply chain team. Through the implementation of the KanBan system and rapid standardization, clinicians will have more time to work with their patients, leading to improved quality patient care and ultimately the improvement of reimbursement outcomes.

The article below was taken from the KHA website and submitted by Lisa Feil, KAHRMM education chair. Lisa wanted to share the great news about the CEO at her hospital.

John Jacobson, Atchison, Awarded by Kansas Hospitals

The Kansas Hospital Association is pleased to announce that the 2018 recipient of the Donald A. Wilson Visionary Award is John Jacobson, chief executive officer of Atchison Hospital in Atchison.

KHA established this award to recognize outstanding, innovative contribution to health care delivery, health care financing or other initiatives that improve the health and clinical outcomes in a community. The Donald A. Wilson Visionary Award provides members of KHA the opportunity to recognize individuals who have been a change agent in the hospital industry.

John Jacobson has worked in the health care industry since 1973. In 2004, he took the position of CEO at the Atchison Hospital in Atchison. During that time, he has been a champion of many things, but has been a true visionary of population health initiatives in Atchison. What began many years ago, as an employee wellness program, is now so much more.

Governor's Substance Use Disorder Task Force Report

(Sept. 28, 2018) – The Kansas Hospital Association appreciates the opportunity to have represented Kansas hospitals on the recently concluded Governor's Substance Use Disorder Task Force. We look forward to working with our members on this critically important topic. Gov. Jeff Colyer created the task force through Executive Order 18-09, signed March 1, 2018.

The task force duties were to:

- Gather information regarding substance use disorder within the state of Kansas, particularly regarding the growing number of opioid and heroin overdoses in the state and the continued scourge of methamphetamine addiction
- Evaluate and leverage existing resources, tools and initiatives already established in the Kansas healthcare continuum, notably the work and recommendations of the Kansas Prescription Drug and Opioid Advisory Committee;
- Investigate various response options, including distributing Naloxone to first responders, more comprehensively utilizing prescribing data and otherwise revising state policy as appropriate;
- Examine best practices for prevention, treatment and recovery of at-risk individuals through early detection and equation for patients;
- Advise and make recommendations to the governor; and
- Assist in implementing and executing a statewide response.
