MONTH-LONG OBSERVANCES

Medical Travel Month
Radon Awareness Month

RECOGNITION DAYS | EVENTS

25  IV Nurse Day

1–31  Medical Travel Month

Medical Travel Month raises awareness for medical care options beyond what is available locally. Traveling for care, both domestically and internationally, allows Americans to access high-quality, affordable medical care. Raising awareness for medical tourism will show employers and individuals they do not have to receive low-quality or unaffordable care simply because it is what is available in their region.

1–31  Radon Awareness Month

Radon is a gas that can build up to dangerous levels inside homes, schools, and other buildings without anyone knowing it. It also has been found to cause lung cancer. Every home should be tested for radon and fixed if levels are high. This Radon Awareness Month, test your home for radon. Testing is easy and inexpensive, and it could save your life.

For more information, contact:
American Lung Association | 800.586.4872

WEEK-LONG OBSERVANCES

7–13 Perianesthesia Nurse Awareness Week
13–19 Cardiovascular Professionals Week
13–19 Sepsis Survivor Week
21–25 Phlebotomists’ Recognition Week

1–28 American Heart Month

During American Heart Month, thousands of American Heart Association volunteers raise awareness about and raise funds to fight cardiovascular disease, our number one killer. A federally designated event for more than half a century, American Heart Month reminds people to focus on their hearts and encourages them to get their families, friends and communities involved.

1–31 Breathe Better, Sleep Better Month

More than one-third of American adults are not getting enough sleep each night, despite an increased risk of developing chronic conditions, such as obesity, diabetes, high blood pressure, heart disease, stroke and frequent mental distress. For many, part of the problem is that their sleep is interrupted by snoring, sleep apnea, and inability to breathe through the nose. Nasal breathing is essential because it filters, warms and humidifies inhaled air, protects the lungs, leads to better oxygen supply to the body, prevents cold, flu, allergic reaction, hay fever and irritable coughing, stimulates the calming nervous system and reduces snoring and sleep apnea. Alaxo Airway Stents sponsors “Breathe Better, Sleep Better Month” to help raise awareness of the importance of better breathing for better sleep.

For more information, contact:
Susan Thomas | American Optometric Association
314.983.4263 | stthomas@aoa.org | aoa.org

1 Baby Sleep Day

Baby Sleep Day is every March 1st, preceding National Sleep Awareness Week and World Sleep Day. Baby Sleep Day brings attention to the importance of a good night’s sleep for all young children and their families. The Pediatric Sleep Council, an international team with expertise in all aspects of sleep, supports Baby Sleep Day to further its goal of providing free, comprehensive, and evidence-based information on baby and toddler sleep.

1–30 | National Facial Protection Month

Each April, we spread the word to remind both children and adults: as you suit up for outdoor activities this spring, don’t forget to protect your face and head. Spring often brings a flood of patients suffering with head, mouth and facial injuries resulting from sports-related accidents to doctors’ offices and emergency rooms. Many oral and facial injuries can be easily prevented with the use of sports safety equipment like helmets and mouth guards.

1–30 | Liver Health Matters Month

Most people are unaware of the importance of liver health, the looming epidemic of nonalcoholic fatty liver disease (NAFLD) and nonalcoholic steatohepatitis (NASH), the critical need for identifying, assessing and monitoring liver fat and stiffness, and preventing disease progression. The relationship between obesity and liver health is also significant. Liver Health Matters, a month-long initiative, will heighten recognition of the need to monitor their risk for fatty liver disease through annual screening programs and point-of-care non-invasive testing.

MONTH-LONG OBSERVANCES

Cord Blood Awareness Month
Minority Mental Health Awareness Month

1–31 Cord Blood Awareness Month

Cord Blood Awareness month draws attention to the medical value of the stem cells in a baby’s umbilical cord blood, umbilical cord tissue, and placenta. Parents can bank these cells privately for use by their own family or donate them to public banks for the benefit of patients seeking a donor for stem cell therapy. Parent’s Guide to Cord Blood Foundation supports all parent options, and provides services for parents, physicians, and biobank professionals.

For more information, contact:
Dr. Frances Verter

1–31 Minority Mental Health Awareness Month

National Minority Mental Health Awareness Month is observed each July to bring awareness to the unique struggles that racial and ethnic minority communities face regarding mental illness in the United States. The COVID-19 pandemic has made it harder for racial and ethnic minority groups to get access to mental health and substance-use treatment services. Throughout the month, the HHS Office of Minority Health (OMH) will focus on promoting tools and resources addressing the stigma about mental health among racial and ethnic minority populations, particularly during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month

During October, it is important to take action, whether that’s for ourselves, for a loved one facing the disease, or to honor a loved one who has passed. We can make a positive impact and take action by simply educating ourselves, and then others, about breast cancer and how to be proactive with our breast health.

For more information, contact:

Medical Ultrasound Awareness Month

Medical Ultrasound Awareness Month (MUAM) is held annually in October to create awareness of the role diagnostic medical sonographers play in the medical community and to educate the public about medical ultrasound and its many uses in healthcare. The month-long celebration is a joint effort of American Institute of Ultrasound in Medicine (AIUM), American Registry for Diagnostic Medical Sonography (ARDMS), American Society of Echocardiography (ASE), Cardiovascular Credentialing International (CCI), Society of Diagnostic Medical Sonography (SDMS), and Society for Vascular Ultrasound (SVU).

National Disability Employment Awareness Month

National Disability Employment Awareness Month is commemorated annually in October. Public Law 176, enacted by Congress in 1945, designated the first week in October each year as “National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week.” President Harry S. Truman designated the President’s Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities to carry out the Act. In 1962, the word “physically” was removed from the week’s name to acknowledge the employment needs of all Americans with disabilities. Congress expanded the week to a month in 1988 and changed its name to “National Disability Employment Awareness Month.” The U.S. Department of Labor’s Office of Disability Employment Policy (ODEP) assumed responsibility for NDEAM in 2001. October has evolved as the kick-off month for year-round programs nationwide that highlight the value that people with disabilities bring to the workplace.

2–8 | National Healthcare Supply Chain Week

Each year, the first week of October is dedicated to celebrating health care supply chain professionals for their outstanding contributions to health care and the overall success of the supply chain. Sponsored by AHRMM, National Health Care Supply Chain Week (SC Week) provides an opportunity to recognize the integral role supply chain professionals play in delivering high-quality patient care throughout the health care field.

9–15 | Emergency Nurses Week

Each October, ENA celebrates emergency nurses for their incredible commitment to care. As an emergency nurse, you are willing to do what it takes to provide your patients the best care possible no matter the circumstances. When life knocks you down, you always get back up. No matter what comes through your emergency department’s doors, you face it head-on. You’re ready to get your hands, and scrubs, dirty to do what’s right. You are the definition of grit.

9–15 | Fire Prevention Week™

About Fire Prevention Week™ NFPA has been the official sponsor of Fire Prevention Week™ since 1922. According to the National Archives and Records Administration’s Library Information Center, Fire Prevention Week is the longest running public health and safety observance on record. The President of the United States has signed a proclamation declaring a national observance during that week every year since 1925. Visit www.firepreventionweek.org for more safety information.

9–15 | Sterile Processing Week

Each year, beginning the second Sunday of October and running through the following Saturday, IAHCSMM celebrates the hardworking, critically important Sterile Processing professionals who clean, decontaminate, inspect, sterilize, and distribute reusable medical and surgical instruments/equipment for patient use. Without these instrumentation and sterilization experts, surgeries and other areas of direct patient care simply could not take place. Sterile Processing professionals truly are Instrumental to Patient Care.

COPD Awareness Month

More than 11 million Americans live with chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD), a lung disease that makes it difficult to breathe. From chronic cough and shortness of breath to fatigue and wheezing, life is difficult with COPD. But with a good treatment plan and support network, COPD can be managed so that individuals affected can live full and active lives.
