Grow Your Own Workforce: Building Apprenticeships in Kansas Hospitals

Hospitals across Kansas are turning to apprenticeships as a powerful strategy to build career pathways, reduce reliance on contract labor and boost employee retention. To support this momentum, an ongoing Healthworks initiative offers resources and guidance to strengthen existing apprenticeship programs and help more facilities launch customized programs that meet their workforce needs.

With the support of a two-year grant through the Patterson Family Foundation aimed at expanding health care apprenticeships in rural Kansas, Healthworks is collaborating with TalentGro to deliver technical assistance and hands-on guidance to hospitals ready to start or grow their apprenticeship efforts. Hear from hospitals who have reaped the benefits of apprenticeships at their facility.

Join us at 10:00 a.m. on May 15 to learn:

- What health care apprenticeships are and how they work;
- The benefits of “growing your own” through registered apprenticeships;
- How Healthworks can support hospitals in launching and managing programs; and
- Available funding opportunities to help bring these efforts to life.
